As a top Canadian university, the U of A offers world-class teaching, research, and innovation.

#4 RESEARCH-BASED UNIVERSITY IN CANADA

#2 IN GRADUATE EMPLOYMENT IN CANADA

40,000+ STUDENTS FROM 150+ COUNTRIES

300,000+ ALUMNI WORLDWIDE

$32M+ IN FINANCIAL SUPPORT

200+ UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS

400+ STUDENT CLUBS
Actively encourage your children to engage in campus life — join a club, go to athletic events, or volunteer — there is a full menu of opportunities for them to explore.

“I would also advise parents to help their children learn to ‘adult’ by allowing them to make mistakes and learn from their errors — life isn’t a success-only journey! It’s rewarding to watch the personal growth that happens to young people over the course of a degree.”

MEET A U OF A FAMILY

ALLYSON PARENT

Allyson is a mother of three children at various stages of academics at the U of A — a first year, fourth year, and recent graduate. Allyson and husband Darryl are also U of A alumni.

BOUNDLESS OPPORTUNITIES
Encouraging students to test their knowledge and put it into practice.

OUR CAMPUSES
North Campus has over 150 buildings occupying over 50 city blocks. It’s a classic academic setting steeped in over 112 years of history, yet also home to some of the most technologically advanced research and teaching facilities in the world.

Students can also choose to study at one of our two other teaching campuses: Campus Saint-Jean, our French-language campus; or Augustana, our campus in Camrose, Alberta. Sign up to visit or virtually tour our campuses. uab.ca/tours.

LIVING ON CAMPUS
Lister Hall is Canada’s largest on-campus residence, and we have guaranteed a spot for all first-year students. With its renovated facilities and student meal plans, Lister is home to both local students and students from all over. Residents also enjoy the academic advantages of being so close to classes and study facilities, along with the Peer Tutor and the Academic in Residence (AiR) programs that living in Lister provides. uab.ca/residence

OUR GRADS GET JOBS
Co-ops, practicums, job shadowing, and career mentoring make our graduates some of the most employable in the world. Here are just a few of our resources that connect students with employers in virtually every field:
- Co-ops, practicums, and internships in all direct-entry faculties
- Community Service-Learning (CSL)
- eHub and TEC Edmonton
- Networking and career fairs
- The University of Alberta Career Centre

FIELDWORK AND RESEARCH
Students can get involved in research as early as their first year with the Undergraduate Research Initiative (URI). A program that could have them receiving funding for their self-directed projects. Or they could be learning outside of the classroom and getting hands-on experience in their field of study. Faculty-led field schools have students learning alongside leading researchers in some fantastic locations both in Canada and around the world. uab.ca/uri

SUPPORTED STUDENTS SUCCEED
Empower your student to make smart choices — like choosing the U of A.

STUDENTS NEED TO DISCOVER
Programs with a general first year of study give students time to discover their aptitudes and interests. It’s also quite normal for students to change majors or programs during their degree. Encourage them to explore their options and to keep an open mind. Students can start by taking our program quiz. uab.ca/programs

STARTING WITH A SCHEDULE
University can be a big leap for students, given the significant investment of time, money, and effort. Students must also juggle the expectations of parents, professors, and even themselves. Start the discussion now about finding balance and building a schedule. Students can maintain a manageable workload by building study time and breaks into their schedules, staying on top of their assignments, and accessing available supports. Study breaks are a good time to be active and involved — encourage them to use the recreation facilities on campus or join one of the 400+ student groups. uab.ca/sg

REINFORCEMENTS ARE READY
Students are supported at every stage by a network of services ranging from tutoring and academic advising, to health care and mental wellness, to student-led organizations and support groups. Here are just a few of the resources available on campus and online:

• Academic Success Centre
• Counselling and clinical services
• First Peoples’ House
• Institute for Sexual Minority Studies and Services (iSMSS)
• Peer Support Centre
• Physician and pharmacy services
INVESTING IN THEIR FUTURE
Support is available to help fund your student’s education.

SCHOLARSHIPS & AWARDS
Based on their admission average alone, your student could receive awards they don’t even have to apply for. For other awards, they simply have to fill out one awards application and we will assess them for eligibility based on experiences, background, academics, and interests. The deadline to apply for awards is December 15, 2020. uab.ca/awards

PAYMENT OPTIONS

WORKSHOPS & RESOURCES

We host presentations and events for students year-round at uab.ca/recruitmentevents. Students can sign up for a presentation on our undergraduate experience or find an event on a variety of topics, like:

• How to submit an application
• Applying for awards
• Registering in classes

COMMUNICATION POLICY

Official correspondence regarding admissions and awards will occur online through our student portals, with key notifications sent via email. Little, if any, correspondence will be sent via regular mail. The university holds students responsible for ensuring messages sent to their student email accounts are reviewed and acted on promptly.

PROTECTION OF PRIVACY

Official correspondence between the university and students is privileged. The university is unable, by law, to disclose students’ personal or academic information to anyone but the student, including family members, without the student’s written consent — even if the student is under 18. uab.ca/parents
