Scope: Undergraduate Student Academic Appeal Procedures – Appeals to the ALES Academic Faculty Practice Review Committee

General Information

Definitions:

FPRC Coordinator: The FPRC coordinator is the individual, normally the Executive Assistant to the Dean of ALES, who is responsible for coordinating the appeal.

Faculty Practice Review Committee Membership

The ALES Faculty Practice Review Committee will be constituted from current ALES Academic Staff and will consist of no less than three members. One of these will be designated as the committee Chair for the appeal. In order to preserve the impartiality of the appeal process, neither the chair nor any committee member should have had any prior academic relationship with the appellant. Committee members cannot be members of the appellant's program committee or any other committee related to the appellant's program of study.

The ALES Faculty Practice Review Committee is only constituted when an intervention imposed by the Dean or delegate under the University of Alberta Practicum Intervention Policy is being appealed by a student.

Practicum Intervention Review Procedure

Please refer to section 87.3 of the University of Alberta Practicum Intervention Policy.

Student Right To Subsequent Appeal

Please refer to 87.5 of the University of Alberta Practicum Intervention Policy.
