Guidelines for Resolving Technical Issues During Online Assessments & Exams (Students)

The shift to remote delivery has prompted the need to also shift the tools that the University of Alberta uses for assessment as well as assessment processes. Under both in-person and online circumstances, we understand that assessments can be stressful. In remote settings, though, stress can often be exasperated by technical difficulties that may arise outside of instructor or student control. The intent of this document is to provide students with a clear understanding of recommended steps students should take in the instance of technical issues arising during online assessments/exams.

In the event of a technical issue during an assessment, it is imperative to document the situation to be able to confidently allow the instructional team or designated support individuals the opportunity to provide, if necessary, a fair re-assessment. Video evidence, screen captures are recommended.

Do not under any circumstances contact any other student taking the assessment. Continue to attempt to communicate with the instructor. Once you have made contact, they will inform you on what your next steps are.

In the event of technical difficulties arising where the student is able to complete the assessment, the student needs to:

- Document the issue and steps taken to rectify the situation by any means possible (e.g. record issue with phone camera and/or video).
- Immediately contact your instructor through email or phone (or any other means communicated to you by them) to inform them of the situation.

In the event the student is NOT able to complete the assessment, the student needs to:

- Document the issue and steps taken to rectify the situation by any means possible (e.g. record issue with phone camera and/or video) until the end of the assessment time.
- Immediately contact your instructor through email or phone (or any other means communicated to you by them) to inform them of the situation.
- At the conclusion of the assessment, (re) establish contact with your instructor, providing them with all the available recorded information.
