

Department of Critical Care Medicine Research Day

The Department of Critical Care Medicine is pleased to invite you to the 2023 Critical Care Research Day. This year's event will take place on May 10, 2023, both in-person and virtually, from 12:30 pm to 4:30 pm. The in-person location will be CSB 2-193 and a Zoom link will be sent out closer to the date. This is a great opportunity for all department members, to present and share their research endeavors. We encourage all members to participate in-person if possible to support our presenters.

Oral Presentation

We encourage all department members including faculty, trainees, and allied health staff, who are interested to submit a one-page abstract of their research for oral presentation. The abstract should be in 12 pt Arial font, including headings such as Objectives, Methods, Results, and Conclusions, and must have a critical care focus. Your abstract can be based on completed work or ongoing research projects.

Submission

Please submit abstracts to ralobaid@ualberta.ca by April 1st, 2023.

Guest Speaker and Lunch

We will have a guest speaker, to be announced soon, who will give a talk on a topic related to critical care research. Lunch will be provided and catered in the Clinical Sciences Building. We will provide more details closer to the event.

Trainee and Allied Health Staff Research Competition

We are delighted to host a research competition for trainees and allied health staff whose abstracts have been accepted for oral presentation. Our panel, which comprises representatives from both adult and pediatric Critical Care Departments, will judge the presentations. The top three presentations will receive prizes.
