Rise to the challenges and opportunities of facilitating educational improvement.

The Master of Education in Educational Studies (MES) is a two-year, part-time, course-based program for teachers, educational administrators, and educational leaders who want to enhance their knowledge and practice in the areas of leadership and school improvement.

The MES program is structured to allow you to work full-time while you study: the program is blended, cohort-based, and part-time.

THE PROGRAM

To optimize the learning experience, the program brings together a 4-course Graduate Certificate in Educational Studies (GCES) on International Education which ladders into the MES program. Coursework is structured to allow you to build your knowledge in an area of education that is of particular interest to you.
