as told by Dr. Oksana Udovik, Project Director*

The aim of the project is to show the potential viability of grassroots-led (as opposed to government-led) initiatives. Surprisingly, given its current state of war, economic turmoil, and political vacuum, Ukraine can be a source of inspiration for the rest of the world, albeit on a small scale and in not the best conditions. Think of what stable polities and societies could do with such initiatives!

A Q&A session with Dr. Udovik and the Edmonton Project Team will follow the screening.
