GENERAL LEDGER (GL) ACCOUNTS - COMPLETE LIST

This document may be searched (e.g. for an account number or keyword) by using the Find feature. For Windows, use: CTRL+F. For Mac, use: COMMAND+F.
While this listing is kept up-to-date as accounts are added or inactivated, users may also obtain a list of all active accounts, by running the query AAA_CF_ACCOUNT.

The majority of users code to a limited number of accounts. Refer to General Ledger (GL) Accounts - Quick List.

Introduction

An account is a number used in the University's general ledger (GL) to identify a unique expense, revenue, asset, liability, equity or transfer activity. All financial transactions must be coded to an account. Accurate coding is critical to ensuring the accuracy of the University's internal and external financial reporting. It is the responsibility of all individuals who initiate, review or approve transactions to ensure coding is correct.

The General Ledger (GL) Accounts - Complete List includes accounts that are restricted for use by specific units. This is indicated by shading as follows:

Accounts for use by all units
Accounts for use by specific units only

Complete information about the University's Chart of Accounts (COA) is available here: Guide/Chart of Accounts. If assistance is required in determining an appropriate account code to use, users should contact their department APO or faculty senior financial officer.

External Revenue

Sales of Services and Products (402xxx accounts)

Sales of Services and Products accounts are used to code revenue from fee-for-services activities and from the sale of products to external parties (e.g. other entities, individuals including university students) in exchange for the fee/price determined by the selling unit, and certain types of revenue where the external party has an obligation to pay the university but does not receive services or products in exchange but (e.g. parking fines, NSF charges). Units with regular selling activity will use a detailed 402xxx account, or will request that a new account be set up if an appropriate detailed account is not available. Account 402001 is generally used by units for small dollar sales activity.
