REGULATION OF SAFE AND ETHICAL NURSING PRACTICE

Sadie Deschenes, RN, BSCN, MN, PhD Student
Faculty of Nursing, University of Alberta

Provincial nursing regulators in Canada are responsible for protecting the public by ensuring safe, competent, and ethical nursing care. In this presentation I will discuss a retrospective study of disciplinary decisions regarding nurses at the provincial level. The findings offer insight into the enactment of professional discipline and furthers our understanding of the extent of compliance to practice standards and ethical codes of conduct. I will further discuss the ethical actions of the regulatory body as it pertains to disciplinary processes.
