(In-person presentation)

Throughout much of the 20th century, Ukrainian music in Canada was shaped primarily by musical traditions that originated in the western provinces of Ukraine. While the period since 1991 has seen an increased flow of cultural products from Ukraine and a wide variety of musical influences among Ukrainians who relocated to Canada during this time, the Western Ukrainian base material continues to hold a dominant place in the musical fabric of Ukrainian Canadians. This presentation will look at both some general tendencies as well as some specific ways the presenter has selected and shaped material to suit the tastes of varying audiences.
