Course Description and Objectives: Willkommen! German 211 is an exciting and challenging intermediate German language course. It is designed to further your skills beyond the beginner's level, in communicating in written and spoken German, understanding written and oral texts, and responding to them with increasing accuracy, maturity, and fluency. To do so, we will get you to use German as much as possible because this is the most effective way to learn a language. We will also read a short novel.

This course follows a blended-learning model which is a combination of in-class, face-to-face instruction and interaction, and online self-paced, individual learning. During the face-to-face instruction you will meet and communicate with your instructor and interact with your classmates in the classroom. You will complete the online lessons independently, on your own time. Your instructors will guide you through these online lessons and will advise on when these need to be completed.

Learning outcomes:

By the end of this course, successful students will be able to:

- engage in somewhat more complex conversations, asking and answering questions on a variety of familiar topics
- read and understand texts such as simple short stories
- write simple connected texts on topics that are familiar or of personal interest, such as letters and short stories
- describe experiences, plans and events using various time frames in oral and written form
- express themselves more effectively and more accurately in German
- recognize and describe a range of cultural aspects of the German-speaking countries and be more aware of the differences and similarities between the cultures of the German-speaking countries and North-American cultures

Learning a language is a complex, long-term and highly rewarding process. It is important that you identify your own motivations and objectives in undertaking this course. This course requires regular attendance, participation and effort, as well as constant review and practice in and out of class. The course is designed to allow you to take an active part in each class, to hear, respond to, read, and speak a lot of German. It is also important for you to explore the ways in which you learn best and to find opportunities for outside practice according to your interests. The strategies you develop for dealing with spoken and written language are as important to communication and language acquisition as is your knowledge of the language itself. Your constant personal involvement both in and out of class will be essential to your success.

Course Format: The learning outcomes for this course will be achieved through a combination of instructor-led presentations, group- and pair-work, working with the e-textbook and other audiovisual materials.

Explanatory Notes on Assignments:

Participation 10%: Active in-class participation is crucial for learning a language. For German 211, this means we will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays in the classroom where you are expected to participate and interact with your classmates and the instructor, doing a variety of activities.

In-class participation includes not only evidence of individual preparation and attention, but also contributing to group work. You are also expected to attend class regularly and punctually. If you must miss a class, contact another student (or the instructor) to find out what you missed. It is your responsibility to make up work and learn the material for classes you miss. For more detail, please consult the section Attendance, Absences, and Missed Grade Components below.

Quizzes 20%: After most online lessons you need to complete a quiz on eClass. The quizzes are designed to assess a variety of skills which are practiced during the course of study, including listening comprehension, reading comprehension, vocabulary, grammar structures, writing, and cultural information.

Tasks 40%: You will complete 5 tasks this semester. Tasks may consist of oral presentations and/or written assignments. Specific information about each task is provided in the e-textbook as well as on eClass where you submit those tasks.

Oral Presentation 10%: Individually or in pairs you will give an oral presentation during the second half of the semester. Your presentation should be 7-10 minutes long. Specific information about the oral presentation will be provided during class time and on eClass.

Oral Final Assessment 10%: This oral assessment is designed to assess your communicative abilities in German. The assessment takes 10-15 minutes (outside of class time), and it will resemble the oral activities that you have done in class up to that point. You will receive details about signing up and preparing as we approach the assessment date. The oral final assessment will be done individually and will be administered between Nov. 30 – Dec. 7, 2021.

Final Writing Assignment 10%: You will write a composition at the end of the semester (ca. 250-400 words, double-spaced, total number of words indicated, approx. one-inch margins). The final writing assignment will be evaluated with respect to content, comprehensibility, vocabulary choice/range, complexity, and grammatical accuracy. You will receive more details towards the end of the semester during class time and on eClass.

Attendance, Absences, and Missed Grade Components:

Regular attendance is essential for optimal performance in any course. In cases of potentially excusable absences due to illness or domestic affliction, notify your instructor by e-mail within two days. Regarding absences that may be excusable and procedures for addressing course components missed as a result, consult sections Attendance and Examinations of the University Calendar. Be aware that unexcused absences will result in partial or total loss of the grade for the “attendance and participation” component(s) of a course, as well as for any assignments that are not handed-in or completed as a result.

Deferral of term work is a privilege and not a right; there is no guarantee that a deferral will be granted. Misrepresentation of facts to gain a deferral is a serious breach of the Code of Student Behaviour.

In this course, GERM 211, students are expected to attend class, be prepared to interact in German in a variety of situations, complete online sessions between in-class sessions, and submit various assignments.

Policy for Late Assignments:

Assignments are normally due on the day originally announced. Your instructor, if consulted in advance, may consider extensions in special cases before deducting grades or refusing to give credit. Your instructor will spell out the details of how they deal with late assignments. In general, you can expect to receive a late assignment back corrected but with the mark diminished due to unacceptable lateness.

Use of German

This is a German course; therefore, it will be taught in German. However, the instructor may occasionally use English if it is deemed pedagogically appropriate. Furthermore, to benefit from this course and to acquire a greater understanding of the language, students are expected to speak German as much as possible in class.

Student Responsibilities:

Academic Integrity:

The University of Alberta is committed to the highest standards of academic integrity and honesty. Students are expected to be familiar with these standards regarding academic honesty and to uphold the policies of the University in this respect. Students are particularly urged to familiarize themselves with the provisions of the Code of Student Behaviour and avoid any behaviour that could potentially result in suspicions of cheating, plagiarism, misrepresentation of facts and/or participation in an offence. Academic dishonesty is a serious offence and can result in suspension or expulsion from the University.

All students should consult the Academic Integrity website. If you have any questions, ask your instructor.

An instructor or coordinator who is convinced that a student has handed in work that they could not possibly reproduce without outside assistance is obliged, out of consideration of fairness to other students, to report the case to the Associate Dean of the Faculty. See the Academic Discipline Process.

Language and Translation Courses:

Students involved in language courses and translation courses should be aware that the use of on-line translation to complete assignments constitutes a form of cheating as the student's own understanding and work is therefore not reflected. Also, students in language courses should be aware that, while seeking the advice of native or expert speakers is often helpful, excessive editorial and creative help in assignments is considered a form of cheating that violates the Code of Student Behaviour.

Recording of Lectures:

Audio or video recording, digital or otherwise, of lectures, labs, seminars or any other teaching environment by students is allowed only with the prior written consent of the instructor or as a part of an approved accommodation plan. Student or instructor content, digital or otherwise, created and/or used within the context of the course is to be used solely for personal study, and is not to be used or distributed for any other purpose without prior written consent from the content author(s).

Grading:

Assessment of the individual course components may be in the form of numerical marks or letter grades. The final letter grade will be based on "a combination of absolute achievement and relative performance in a class" (University Calendar, Evaluation Procedures and Grading System). The University Grading Procedure mandates that "a student's level of achievement of the goals/outcomes of a course, their grade, and the descriptor of that grade must be aligned" (<https://policiesonline.ualberta.ca/>). The following guidelines have been adopted by the Department of Modern Languages and Cultural Studies:

“MLCS Undergraduate Grading Scale”
