Memo: Campus Research Visits Reopen and Temporary Remote Library Access Ends

To: Students and Faculty at St. Stephen's College

Regarding: Campus Research Visits Reopen and Temporary Remote Access Library Access Closes

The University of Alberta Library reopened its Curbside Pick-Up services this past week (effective January 27, 2021). Unfortunately, this means that the temporary remote library access given to St. Stephen's faculty and students has now ended. All of us at St. Stephen's are grateful to the University for extending this temporary service and for accommodating our students and faculty through some of the most difficult weeks of the pandemic.

Effective today, students can again make appointments to come to campus for the purposes of conducting research. Appointments must be made with Shelley Westermann, and all visits to campus must follow the Protocol for Safe On-Campus Work During COVID-19.

By way of reminder, library access for St. Stephen's students and faculty is outlined on the Library Services page of the St. Stephen's website. These services are summarized below and are available with a few alterations due to COVID-19:

- 1) Online access to the EBSCO database (via the College's EBSCO account) is available for all St. Stephen's faculty and students (available both on-campus and off-campus). To access this, please see the Library Services page of the St. Stephen's website.
- 2) Online access to the University of Alberta e-resources is available only while on the St. Stephen's College campus. As noted above, students can make appointments to come to campus to use the e-resources. Please reach out to Shelley Westermann at the College to book an appointment.
- 3) Access to the print holdings of the University of Alberta collection. Though all branches of the University Library remain closed at this time, the print stacks can be accessed in the following ways:
 - a. Curbside Pick-Up: The Library has established a "Curbside Pick-Up" service for all library users. Please see the St. Stephen's Library Services page for details of how to access this service.
 - b. Distance Delivery: As always, for those students who live outside of the Greater Edmonton Area, books and other documents can be delivered to your home using the Library's Distance Delivery service. Please see the Library's Distance Delivery page for details of how to access this service.

Please do not hesitate to reach out to the College if you have any questions about library access, if you need any clarity about any of the matters addressed above, or if you have any problems accessing library resources as outlined above.

With thanks,
Fred Tappenden,
Principal and Dean,
