Memo regarding Temporary Remote Library Access

St. Stephen's College

To: Students and Faculty at St. Stephen's College

Regarding: Temporary Remote Access to Library E-Resources Reinstated until Library Curbside Service Re-Opens

Due to increased public health guidelines in Alberta, the University of Alberta Library has granted off-campus access for St. Stephen's faculty and student to use the e-collections of the library. This access is on a temporary basis. Remote access for St. Stephen's to the e-collections is granted as a response to the increased public health restrictions that were introduced in Alberta this past week, and will stay in effect until the Library's curbside pick-up service re-opens (which depends on the provincial guidelines).

St. Stephen's faculty and students will be able to access the e-resources of the library effective today. Please use your CCID and password to access these resources through the University of Alberta Library catalogue.

At this time, St. Stephen's College is temporarily suspending student appointments for on-campus research. Campus research visits will be reinstated when the new provincial restrictions are lifted.

As always, please reach out to the College if you have any questions about library access, if you need any clarity about any of the matters addressed above, or if you have any problems accessing library resources as outlined above. All of us at St. Stephen's are grateful to the University for extending this temporary service and for accommodating our students and faculty through these most difficult months of the pandemic.

With thanks,
Fred Tappenden,
Principal and Dean,
St. Stephen's College
