Memo regarding Extension of Temporary Remote Library Access

To: Students and Faculty at St. Stephen's College

Regarding: Temporary Remote Access to Library E-Resources Extended

The University of Alberta Library has extended for St. Stephen's faculty and students off-campus access to the e-collections of the library. This access remains on a temporary basis and will continue until the Library's curbside collection service is reinstated. St. Stephen's will reach out to its faculty and students to indicate when off-campus library access will be ceased (perhaps as early as January 20, 2021, pending provincial guidelines).

Opportunities for students to visit the St. Stephen's College campus to conduct research continue to be suspended at this time.

As always, please reach out to the College if you have any questions about library access, if you need any clarity about any of the matters addressed above, or if you have any problems accessing library resources as outlined above. All of us at St. Stephen's are grateful to the University for extending this temporary service and for accommodating our students and faculty through these most difficult months of the pandemic.

With thanks,
Fred Tappenden,
Principal and Dean,
St. Stephen's College
