MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR

The year 2019-2020 was one of activity, community, and partnership at The Steadward Centre. I am thrilled to share our successes from this past year and highlight some key partnerships that will help us achieve our mission in the years to come! As we deliver meaningful programs, work with future professionals, and learn from our members, we are committed to inspiring individual achievement in Adapted Physical Activity and Parasport by conducting and applying innovative research, widely sharing expertise and knowledge, and delivering highly successful programs for individuals experiencing disability.

As part of our effort to build capacity across the province we launched Promoting Inclusive Play in Alberta, a 3 year initiative, funded by the Ministry of Culture, Multiculturalism, and Status of Women, and delivered in partnership with Canadian Tire Jumpstart. Focused on using inclusive play and playgrounds this initiative will get young Albertans experiencing disability and their families more active.

To enhance pathways to participation, we established an FES Community Committee which focused on communication and collaboration across FES partners in the Edmonton area. Investing time and energy into building relationships with partners such as the Glenrose Rehabilitation Hospital and the YMCA of Northern Alberta is vital to ensure seamless access to participation in FES programming for people experiencing disability.

With over 200 undergraduate students gaining experience in adapted physical activity as Steadward Centre volunteers, part time instructors and floor monitors, and practicum students, we are proud to influence how these future professionals engage with members of the disability community. Regardless of the field they enter, we hope these young professionals will bring a commitment to person-centred planning and decision making and reflect our values to ensure people experiencing disability have access to movement experiences that work for them.

As we look ahead to another year, I want to say thank you to all of our members- adults, youth, and kids, who continue to show up to be active and connect with one another across our Free2BMMe, Adult Fitness and Recreation, and Athlete Development program areas. Our TSC community is supportive and collaborative- thank you for being flexible to accommodate changing schedules and for lending a hand to assist others with equipment set up- this showcases how important belonging to a community really is!

I also want to thank everyone who supported our efforts to provide quality physical activity, sport, and recreation programming for individuals experiencing disability! Whether you volunteered, donated money, or provided assistance for someone to attend and participate, your support was critical in making a difference. I want to express my gratitude to our incredible donours, including Canadian Tire and FLAMAN who sponsored our fundraising breakfast, the Ministry of Culture, Multiculturalism, and Status of Women for their ongoing operational support, and the many foundations, organizations, and individuals who continue to demonstrate their commitment to making our community better! Thank you- we couldn’t do this work with you!

This report reflects the work of a different time. In March 2020, we had no idea what the rest of 2020 would be like. We want to celebrate these accomplishments and acknowledge that we are committed to staying connected to maintain our community, work with our partners, and continue to keep Albertans experiencing disability active.

HIGHLIGHTS FROM PROMOTING INCLUSIVE PLAY IN ALBERTA

MAIN LEARNING OF PIPA 2019-2020:

“There is a strong desire for more accessible playgrounds in our city. However, physical access does not necessarily equate to feelings of inclusion and belonging in a space. In addition, inclusive play has many different meanings. Therefore, providing facilitated play programming may be a key solution to promoting more inclusive play experiences at playgrounds.”

PARA-ATHLETICS REMOTE COACHING HIGHLIGHT

Britney Volkman has been with the para-athletics program since 2017 when she discovered it through Athletics Alberta. Britney participates in wheelchair racing, attending the Western Canada Summer Games in 2019 placing 1st in the wheelchair 400m race. This past fall Britney moved away for college but wanted to continue training so she was prepared for outdoor season when she returned for summer break.

Head Coach Maegan Ciesielski set her up with an indoor training roller and weekly training program to complete through the Remote Coaching program. The flexibility was her favorite part of the program, “I can do it on my own time schedule, whenever it fits in best”. Britney will be returning to Edmonton this summer to train with the team for the Canadian National Track and Field Championships in Montreal. When asked what it means to Britney to be a Steadward Bear, she shares “it’s great to be part of a team that supports each other”. And her advice to anyone thinking about trying para-athletics? “It’s lots of fun, and builds self-confidence”.

ATHLETES IN TRAINING

Eli joined The Steadward Centre in 2008 when he was 11 years old, participating in Motor Skills Development in the Free2BMe program (formerly CAGE). Over the years he participated in a wide range of programming, and in 2011 he joined Athlete Development for Parasport in para-swimming and Athletes in Training programs.

“The Steadward Centre has helped introduce Eli to a healthy and active lifestyle...”

His father, Rene, said “The Steadward Centre has helped introduce Eli to a healthy and active lifestyle. We are very fortunate and thankful that there is such a facility in Edmonton. The staff throughout the years have been exemplary, always welcoming, supportive and caring. They are all very well trained, have exceptional knowledge of Adapted Physical Activity, and patience to handle and work with adults and kids experiencing disability. They have the necessary skills to communicate extensively”. Cost can often be a barrier to families, he went on to say “TSC has been very accommodating, always finding ways [funding, subsidy] so that Eli can continue with his programs and development”.

When asked what has been the most impactful part of the Athletes in Training program, Rene said “I believe that Eli strives to be ‘perfect’ in anything that he does. Eli has been introduced to a variety of activities that he can learn to be perfect in. Eli is generally athletic in nature and he has found an activity [weightlifting] that is recreational, that he has grown to love and can be very good at. It’s an activity that he can continue to do and excel at for the rest of his life. Finally, because Eli has communication challenges, programs such as Athletes in Training have given him the opportunity to learn and further practice listening, following instructions, communicating and developing interpersonal and social skills. He also likes the snacks I provide him after his workout!”

ANNUAL REVIEW 2019 / 2020
This year the Steadward Bears Para-swimming Team partnered with Swim Alberta to host their first competition, taking place following the Para Prospects West camp in February at the University of Alberta. The competition provided a unique opportunity for para-athletes at various developmental stages to compete together and was the first club run specialized Para-swimming meet in Alberta. The competition was inclusive to athletes at any stage of athletic development.

“\textit{This was Spencer’s first swim meet. He loves the water and has been working hard to prepare...}”

12 year old Spencer joined the Steadward Bears in Fall 2019. His mother, Claire, was excited about the prospect of competition although worried that he wouldn’t enjoy it when the day came. She was thrilled with his positive experience, saying “\textit{This was Spencer’s first swim meet. He loves the water and has been working hard to prepare. He was so nervous. This meet was welcoming and accepting. Thought was put in to making sure everyone did their best. He was SO excited at the event and proud of his success. It has been a really positive event for improving his self-esteem. He is now working even harder at his swimming skills so he can do better next year.}” – Claire Wilde
